The event is to raise the belief of diversity and inclusion on the Truman campus, and the applicant has provided that there will be music and photo booth that will be open to the public to come and participate. The expected attendance is about 120-150 people, and the rest of the budget will be covered by the the Association of the Black Collegians.

Decision

The committee have decided to let the body decide on the application for the Ebony ball. We have decided to approve funding partially, for food expenditures. The breakdown for the budget of the food was $400, and because this event is open to the public we felt that the event was embodying the University's mission of improving diversity and inclusion.
