

Appropriations Slate Oct. 13, 2019

Slate on Sigma Phi Epsilon Festa's Fall Festival application

Background

Sigma Phi Epsilon is hosting their second annual Fall Festival to raise money for the Oral Cancer Foundation to honor their late advisor, who died from oral cancer. The event is on October 26th and will be located off campus. The event is described as embodying Truman's mission by honoring a former faculty and giving students a fun activity to relieve stress. The event is open to all students who will be paying the $17 for a shirt. They are requesting the full $650 to fund the tshirts.

Decision

Due to the fact that the individuals attending the event will be paying directly for the t shirt, the committee is recommending to not fund the apparel but rather the other food and item expenses totalling to $239, based off of their itemized budget. The question of funding their posters as well was raised, but upon asking we discovered that their posters will be free through their current advisor.